MINERAIKGY

Mineralogy．The science which treats of the descripta in，fistmation， and classification of minerals．
Mineralogy--issociohed Hords

Angle．Difference of direction of two or more lines or plate＝
Basal pinacoid．P＇inacoid cutting the vertical axis of acrvstai
Contact－goniometer．Instrument for neasuring the ang．es male by the fices of ery tals．
Crystal．Situl mathematical form assumed by hontogeneous sub－ stances．
Crystallographic axes．The axes of a crystal．
Crystallography．Suence of erystals．
Dihexagonal pyramid．Crystal in the form of a pyramid twelwo－sided in ernss－iectrons．
Diploid．Crystal having 2．4 trafezoidal faces．
Ditetragonal pyramid．Cryst：al in the form of an eight－sided pyramid．
Face．One of the nlane surfaces of a crystal．
Goniometer．lnstrument for measuring angles．
Hemihedrism．state of having half the number of symmetrically arranced planes possible．
Hemimorphism．State of liavang two ends bounded by dissimilar planes．
Hexagonal system．Crystals having six symmetrical faces．
Hexahedron．Crystal having six iaces．
Hexoctahedron．Kind of crystal having $4^{8}$ simtilar and equal trian－ gular faces．
Holohedron．Crystal having all the symmetrical faces pussibic．
Icositetrahedron．Kind of crystal having 24 equal and sirmitar tra－ owzifurn faces

Isometric system. System of crystals having the three axes of equal length.
Mineralogist. One versed in mineralogy.
Monoclinic system. System of crystals having one symmetrical plane.
Octahedroa. Crystal having plane faces.
Orthorhombic system. System of crystals having three unlike axes at right angles.
Parameter. The rational multiple of the urit-length of any semiaxis intercepted by a crystal plane deternining its fosition with reference to the fundamental form
Pinacoid. Form of crystal having two planes cuttirg one axis while parallel to the other two.
Prism. Form of crystal having three planes making faraliel and ver tical intersections.
Reflecting goniometer. Instrument fur measuring angles by reflected light.
Rhombic dodecabedron. Crystal having 12 rhombic faces.
Symbol. A character or mark indicating the surface of a crystal.
Symmetry. Relative proportion and harmony of the parts of a whole
Tetartohedrism. State of having but one-fourth the full number of symmetrical faces
Tetragonal prism. Prism of the tetragonal system.
Tetragonal system. System of crystals having four alternately dis. similar planes of symmetry intersecting at angles of 45 degrees and at right angles 10 a fifth symmetrical plane.
Tetrabexahedron. Crystal having 24 triangular faces.
Triclinic system, System of crystals having full number of faces but no planes of symmetry.
Trisoctahedron. Crystal having 24 faces in eight groups of three each.
Twin crystals. Two similar crystals united so as to Le symmetrical with respect to a plane which is not a flane of symmetry for ether one.

Mineralagy- lerbs.

Mineralize. To change from a metallic to a mineral form.
Orientate. To place a crystal so as to show symmetry.

Mineralogy-Adjecities.

Amorphous. Not crystallized.
Crystalline. In the form of a crystal
Gyroidal. Pertaining to non-symmetrical forms of crystals in which the planes appear to be twisted in respect to each other.
Heterogeneous. Containing dissimilar elements.
Holohedral. Having all the symmetrical fares possibie.
Homogeneous. Having parts of similar form and arrangement.
Interfacial. Formed by two faces of a polyhedron
Isomorphous. Crystallizing in forms identical with those of some other substance.

Mineralogical. Pertaining to mineralugy,
Orthorbombic. Pertaiming to forms of crystals dissimilarly symmetrical in three planes at nght angles to each other.
Pentagosal. Having five angles.
Pyramidal. Ui the shape of a pyranid.
Rhombohedral. Possessing three common planes of symmetry intersecting at argles of 60 degrces .
Sphenoidal. Pertaining to a erystal of the hemiliedral form and in. cluded under four equal scalene triangular faces.
Tetragonal. Possessing four alternately dissimilar planes of symmetry intersecting at angles of 45 degrees and cutting a fifth plane at right angles.
Tetrahedral. Possessing four faces which nieet at a point
Trapezohedral. In the form of a trapezchedron.
Mineria, inaita [L.] (mi-mer'-va in-vai'-ta). Without genius. Difficllty-Facility, Readiness-RellcTANCE.
